Amanda Lentino. A faculty member who worked with Amanda in a variety of capacities over the last year declares that Amanda's behind-the-scenes efforts to help other students are unparalleled. Other professors also praised her efforts as a student leader and research assistant. In fall 2011, Amanda presented a paper at the COPLAC (Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges) conference, which was well received.

Future Goals: Amanda has been accepted to Rutgers University for a Masters degree in English starting this fall. At the same time, she will pursue a career in teaching
