

Crystal Barron

Major: Sociology

Crystal Barron's attraction to sociology began with an interest in the well being of individuals and gaining an understanding of their social conditions. She looked for a major that combined scientific research with human compassion, and found it in sociology. Crystal hopes to pursue a career in aiding policy writers in either government or not for profit groups, or to assist in community development. She plans to get some work experience and then pursue a Graduate degree.