

2-History

Devin McGinley. Devin is a superb researcher and an elegant writer whose research papers are models of clarity and insight. His academic talents have garnered recognition beyond Ramapo; he was selected for a highly competitive internship with the Margaret Sanger Papers Project at New York University in Spring 2011, and, last summer, he won a coveted summer scholar award from the Gilder Lehrman Institute for American History. Beyond the classroom, Devin served as a History Tutoring Fellow, helping other students succeed in their academic endeavors. Devin is the recipient of the best essays awards from our School this year.

Future Goals: Devin plans to pursue graduate studies in social science after a year of travel and work
