

Emily Marlowe

MAJORS: American Studies & History

Emily is a History Tutoring Fellow and an officer of the American Studies Club. She has worked with one of her professors on a book project--an edited version of the memoir of Elbridge Kingsley (a 19th century American artist and wood engraver)--and has made significant contributions to this project.

Earlier this semester, Emily presented a paper on "Childhood in Bergen County in the Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries" at the regional conference of Phi Alpha Theta, the national history honor society.

Emily has been accepted to the Ph.D. program in History and Culture at Drew University
