

Justine D'Elia

MAJOR: Political Science

Justine is an intelligent and conscientious student with excellent research skills. She has done collaborative research with one of her professors for two years and in his judgment will likely be one of Ramapo's very distinguished alumni in the near future. She virtually maxed out the American politics elective courses and created her own independent study on political science methodology.

FUTURE GOALS

Justin plans to be to be a researcher in Political Science. She has been accepted with full funding to Ph.D. programs at Rutgers, Brown, and SUNY-Stony Brook. She chose to attend SUNY-Stony Brook to study the U.S. Congress.