

Matthew Romary

Major: Environmental Studies

Matthew Romary has spent his entire college career at Ramapo College. He has developed a particular interest in the environmental health and safety aspect of his major. He plans to continue his education with graduate school, but has not yet decided where he will be going.