

Psychology: Wendy Levine

Wendy is a recipient of the Faculty's Award for Distinction in Psychology this year. She has conducted research examining social defeat and presented her own piloted research project at the Society for Neuroscience's 41st annual international conference.

Wendy will be pursuing a master's degree in Clinical & Counseling psychology. She hopes to eventually earn a doctorate in clinical psychology and to work as a neuropsychologist with individuals who have sustained traumatic brain injury.