PETER A. DIAMOND, Ph.D.

Wednesday, April 23, 2014

5:30 p.m.

The Sharp Theater in the Angelica and Russ Berrie Center for Performing and Visual Arts

Peter A. Diamond received the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences in 2010, and shared the honor with Dale T. Mortensen and Christopher A. Pissarides, "for their analysis of markets with search frictions."

Diamond is well known for his expertise in and economic analysis of U.S. Social Security policy, and is an Institute Professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). He earned his B.A. in Mathematics from Yale University, summa cum laude, and his Ph.D. in Economics from MIT. Diamond is the author or editor of 12 books and has published numerous articles. He has served as President of the Econometric Society and the American Economic Association and, he is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and founding member of the National Academy of Social Insurance.

Diamond is the third Nobel Laureate to speak at Ramapo in recent years. Paul Krugman, recipient of the 2008 Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences, delivered a lecture entitled "The Liquidity Trap and Its Discontents" in 2010. He is one of the founders of the "new trade theory" and is a regular op-ed columnist for The New York Times. Joseph E. Stiglitz, the 2001 Nobel Memorial Prize in Economics, visited Ramapo in 2012. He delivered a presentation entitled "Where Economics and Politics Collide: The Uncertain Future of the Euro Zone."

Established in 1974, the Eastern Economic Association is a nonprofit corporation based at Ramapo College whose object is to promote educational and scholarly exchange on economic affairs. The organization publishes the Eastern Economic Journal, sponsors an annual conference and collaborates with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to promote economic education.

This event is open to the general public at no charge.
