The convener of the Substance Abuse minor is proposing a change in the minor as well as all courses within the minor. The proposed new name is ‘Substance Use Disorders’ minor. This change is warranted because of a shift in the language found acceptable in the field of Substance Use Disorders. For example, the National Association for Addiction Professionals, NAADAC, has removed the language “Substance Abuse” from all of the presentations at the national conference this year. This change was made to remove the negative connotations from the title.
