

Coca-Cola

BY: Heba Hamdan

Coca Cola is a world wide excelling American company which is also the world's largest beverage company. A prime source for one of the ingredients for Coke is the Coca plant. Coca Cola uses a decocainized version of the leaves as flavoring. Although the bottle manufacturing is done in America , Mexico also exports Coke using real sugar cane for flavoring instead of fructose. Although there was much controversy dealing with Coca plant farming in Columbia. When union members were killed people were starting to despise the company and believe the allegations were true, this lead to protests against Coca Cola. Many groups raised lawsuits against Coca Cola's large consumption of water from scarce regions in India , as long as being blamed for contaminating the water. People began creating social movements to spread awareness of the company's inhumane actions. KillerCoke was an organization to strike for justice and rights for the workers. There are many ways in which you can help raise awareness as well. You can donate to GreenPeace.org to help prevent plastic from harming sea life. As a Ramapo staff/student you can go to the Ramapo web and contact food services to submit a suggestion or any feedback. <https://ramapo.sodexomyway.com/contact/feedback>