Synopsis:

The coming-of-age screenplay, "A Domino or Two," tells the story of Anna, a high school student who discovers that her grandfather, John, has an early onset of Alzheimer's disease. This diagnosis shakes the family's foundation, and Anna is forced to confront her own mortality and the decay of her beloved grandparent. The story follows Anna as she navigates through the emotional and physical changes that come with Alzheimer's, as well as the support system she builds around her to cope with the pressure and emotional toll of the disease.
