“CONTINUING THREADS AND NEW VOICES,” AN EXHIBIT BY ADJUNCT
VISUAL ARTS PROFESSORS, ON VIEW AT RAMAPO COLLEGE

MAHWAH – An exhibit of works by adjunct professors of visual arts at Ramapo College of New Jersey will be on view in the Kresge and Pascal Galleries in the Russ Berrie Center for Performing and Visual Arts in February.

The exhibit will feature an eclectic mix of media including paintings, photographs, ceramic sculpture, inkjet prints and installations. All of the artists are adjunct professors at Ramapo College. They include:

Colleen Asper, Brooklyn, New York, paintings

Jennifer Dudley, Brooklyn, New York, paintings

David Freund, Salisbury Mills, New York, photographs

DeBorah Goletz, West Milford, New Jersey, ceramic sculpture

Joan Harmon, Haverstraw, New York, sculpture

Jose Hernandez, Bergenfield, New Jersey, inkjet prints

(more)

Siena Porta, Palisades, New York, installation art

Catherine St. John, Clifton, New Jersey, paintings

Arlene Toonkel, Mahwah, New Jersey, mixed media

Lydia Viscardi, Bridgeport, Connecticut, paintings

“Every few years we shine a light on the wonderfully talented constellation of adjunct instructors,” said Sydney Jenkins, director of the galleries. “This exhibition demonstrates a remarkable range of talents and perspectives.”

This program is made possible, in part, by funds from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, a Partner Agency of the National Endowment for the Arts. The Pascal Gallery is located in the Berrie Center for Performing and Visual Arts at Ramapo College. Hours are Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. and Wednesday, 1 to 7 p.m. For more information, call Sydney Jenkins, gallery director, 201.684.7147.

A preview reception will be held Wednesday, February 4 from 5 to 7 p.m. An artist’s talk will begin at 5:30 p.m. The exhibit will run Thursday, February 5 and continue through March 6.
