Italian Language Films to be Screened at Ramapo to Promote Italian Language and Culture

(MAHWAH, NJ) – Ramapo’s Salameno School of American and International Studies presents the Italian Language Film Series for the spring 2012 semester. The films will be screened at 6:30 p.m. in ASB136.

The films to be screened include “Divorzio All’Italiana” (Divorce, Italian Style, 1961), directed by Pietro Germi, “Il Gattapardo” (The Leopard, 1963), directed by Luchino Visconti, Il Conformista (The Conformist, 1970), directed by Bernardo Bertolucci, “Una Giornata Particolare” (A Special Day, 1977), directed by Ettore Scola, “Mio Fratello E Figlio Unico” (My Brother is an Only Child, 2007), directed by Daniele Luchetti, and “Pranzo Do Ferragosto” (Mid-August Lunch, 2008), directed by Gianni De Gregorio. The film “Paisa” (Paisan), directed by Roberto Rossellini was screened previously on January 25.

The dates each film will be shown are as follows:

“Divorzio All’Italiana,” February 8
“Il Gattapardo,” February 22
“Il Conformista,” March 7
“Una Giornata Particolare,” March 28
“Mio Fratello E Figlio Unico,” April 11
“Pranzo Do Ferragosto,” April 25

The films are shown in conjunction with the Italian Cinema course offered at the College taught by Professor Giuseppe Sorrentino, but the films are open to the public and free of admission. A discussion will follow the screening of each film.

###

Ranked by U.S. News & World Report as sixth in the Best Regional Universities North category, Ramapo College of New Jersey is sometimes mistaken for a private college. This is, in part, due to its unique interdisciplinary academic structure, its size of approximately 6,008 students and its pastoral setting in the foothills of the Ramapo Mountains on the New Jersey/New York border.

Established in 1969, Ramapo College offers bachelor's degrees in the arts, business, humanities, social sciences and the sciences, as well as in professional studies, which include nursing and social work. In addition, Ramapo College offers courses leading to teacher certification at the elementary and secondary levels. The College also offers six graduate programs as well as articulated programs with the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, New York Chiropractic College, New York University College of Dentistry, SUNY State College of Optometry and New York College of Podiatric Medicine.
