Open Door Concert Series at Ramapo College to Highlight Russian Musical Works

MAHWAH, N.J. -- The Open Door Concert Series at Ramapo College will present three concerts for the Spring 2016 season and highlight Russian music of the last 150 years amid gems from the classical repertoire.

The first concert, on Wednesday, March 9, features the Open Door chamber orchestra, led by concertmaster Evelyn Estava, will perform Tchaikovsky's Serenade for Strings. The eternally beloved Little Night Music by Mozart and Bach's Concerto for Piano in F minor with soloist Itay Goren will conclude the program.

The Open Door Concert Series will take place in the York Room at the Birch Mansion on campus. Admission is free and open to the public. Doors open at 6:30 and seating is limited. Refreshments will be served following each performance.

For information, contact Itay Goren at gorenitay@hotmail.com

Ranked by U.S. News & World Report as fifth in the Best Regional Public Universities North category, Ramapo College of New Jersey is sometimes mistaken for a private college. This is, in part, due to its unique interdisciplinary academic structure, its size of approximately 6,000 students and its pastoral setting in the foothills of the Ramapo Mountains on the New Jersey/New York border.

Established in 1969, Ramapo College offers bachelor's degrees in the arts, business, humanities, social sciences and the sciences, as well as in professional studies, which include nursing and social work. In addition, Ramapo College offers courses leading to teacher certification at the elementary and secondary levels. The College also offers eight graduate programs as well as articulated programs with Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, New York Chiropractic College, New York University College of Dentistry, SUNY State College of Optometry and New York College of Podiatric Medicine.
