U.N. Women Political Participation Specialist to Speak on Gender Equality at Ramapo College

MAHWAH, N.J. – “Working for Gender Equality Across the Globe” will be presented on October 22 at 6 p.m. in the Alumni Lounges on the Ramapo College of New Jersey campus. The event, sponsored by the College’s School of Humanities and Global Studies and the Women’s Center LGBTQ Services, is free and open to the public.

The guest speaker is Gabriella Borovsky, Political Participation Specialist at U.N. Women, New York City. Borovsky, a Ramapo alumna, will discuss her public policy and political advocacy career developing programs and policies to empower political participation and leadership as well as advocating for the prevention of violence toward women.

Prior to her current position at U.N. Women, Borovsky was the social and gender specialist for the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development in London, and served as resident program manager for the National Democratic Institute, which has offices abroad and in Washington, D.C. She received her bachelor’s degree in political science and government from Ramapo College in 2004 and her master’s degree in development economics and international development from the London School of Economics and Political Science.

For disability-related accommodations, call 201-684-7406.
