Diversity in Health Care Seminar Presented by Ramapo College

MAHWAH, N.J. – Ramapo College of New Jersey is presenting “Diversity in Health Care II: An Interdisciplinary Approach” on Monday, October 21 in the Trustees Pavilion from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The event is free and open to the public, and registration is required to attend.

The all-day event will include two panel discussions and a keynote. The first panel, “The Economic Advantage of a Diversity Approach in Health Care and Human Services,” will be moderated by Susan Hangen, dean of the Ramapo College School of Humanities and Global Studies, and will feature panelists from Horizon BCBSNJ, Rutgers University and the Anti-Poverty Network of New Jersey. The second panel, “Bilingual Narratives,” moderated by John McTighe, Ramapo College professor of social work, will include faculty and professionals from Arizona University, Columbia University and William Paterson University.

Dorothy Roberts, noted professor and director of the Program on Race, Science and Society at the University of Pennsylvania, will give the keynote address.

The panels and keynote will cover diversity in health care topics as they relate to law, management, social work, medical anthropology, Spanish, counseling and political science. The event concludes with a reception and presentation of Ramapo College’s Peruvian Study Abroad Program.

Check-in on the day of the event begins at 8 a.m.

Complete schedule and online registration may be viewed at www.ramapo.edu/international/diversity-in-health-care-and-human-services/

The event is sponsored by the Undergraduate Studies and Foreign Language federal grant awarded by the U.S. Department of Education.
