Speaker:
Heran Sereke-Brhan

Heran Sereke-Brhan received a B.A. at Mills College in Oakland, California then went on to graduate school in African History at Michigan State University. Ms. Sereke-Brhan is the first Ethiopian woman to receive a Ph.D in African History. Her current research interests draw on her experiences in the arts, exploring issues of intellectual property and African cultural production, situating the expressive arts in a rapidly globalizing world with migrant communities and competitive markets.
