

What can you do with a PSYCHOLOGY DEGREE

Source: Careers in Psychology: Opportunities in a Changing World, 5e by Tara L. Kuther and Robert D. Morgan *a masters or doctoral degree may be required.

Clinical & Counseling

Psychology

- Human Service Worker
- Social Worker
- Substance Abuse Counselor
- Applied Psychologist*

School Psychology

- Teacher
- Childcare Worker
- Teaching Assistant
- Early Childhood Behavioral Specialist
- School Psychologist*
- School Counselor*

Legal & Forensic Psychology

- Police Officer
- Correctional Officer
- Juvenile Detention Worker
- Probation & Parole Officer
- Forensic Interviewer
- Correctional Psychologist*
- Forensic Examiner*
- Trial Consultant*

Health Psychology

- Recreational Therapist
- Occupational Therapy Assistant
- Physical Therapy Assistant
- Health Educator
- Health Psychologist*

Sport Psychology

- Fitness Instructor
- Recreation Worker & Supervisor
- Sports Instructor & Coach
- Physical Education Teacher
- Athletic Trainer
- Sports Reporter
- Sports Psychologist

Biopsychology,

Cognitive Neuropsychology &

Clinical Neuropsychology

- Science Technician
- Psychiatric Technician
- Medical or Clinical Laboratory Technologist
- Pharmacy Technician
- Pharmaceutical and Biotechnology Research*
- Clinical Neuropsychologist*

Industrial-Organizational Psychology,

Cognitive Psychology, &

Human Factors Psychology

- Human Resources
- Commercial or Industrial Design Assistant
- Project Manager
- Usability Specialist*
- Design Psychologist*
- Environmental Designer*

Experimental & Quantitative

Psychology

- Underwriter
- Computer Programmer
- Software Developer
- Software Support Specialist
- Budget Analyst
- Behavior Technician
- Board Certified Behavior Analyst*
- Operations Research Analyst*
- Systems Analyst*
- Systems Architect*
- Actuary*
- Financial Analyst*

Social & Consumer Psychology

- Advertising
- Real Estate
- Public Relations Specialist
- Social Media Strategist
- Marketing*
- Data Mining*
- Public Relations*
- Sales Management*

Developmental Psychology

- Gerontology Service Coordinator
- Child-Life Specialist
- Students Activities Director
- Fundraising Coordinator
- Grant Director*
- Foundation Director*
- Applied Developmental Psychologist*

SAGE Psychology

Providing educators, learners and researchers the tools to thrive in the classroom and beyond

We are SAGE Psychology — an independent, academic publisher with a strong commitment to the psychology community. Founded on the beliefs that research matters, education changes lives, and quality content impacts knowledge, we collaborate with partners across the discipline to create meaningful resources for instructors and students.

Visit sagepub.com/IntroPsych to learn more about our offerings.